

On behalf of Crisis Connection Inc. and the Abnormal Psychology and Social Work Classes of VUJC we invite you to attend a free training presented by ICADV and Carla Gaff-Clark, Ed.D, LMHC, CADAC II

Obsessive Compulsive Disorder (OCD)
Nov.14, noon until 2 P.M.
Vincennes University Jasper Campus
Administration Building Room 230

This training is one especially designed to help you understand this disorder and possibly redirect clients who are often obsessed about specific things, people or activities in their lives. For many, this starts at a very young age in an effort to secure safety for themselves. For others, it is an activity that starts out of fear after an incident or trauma. And for still others, there seems to be no real connection to life's happenings, but a connection to the genetic makeup of family members. As you can see, there are many reasons your client may have OCD, or have OCD features. We will be exploring those during this workshop, while also looking at things that we can do (techniques) to assist them as they struggle with this sometimes debilitating issue.

This training has been certified by the Indiana Professionals Bureau, there will be two CEU's free of charge.

To attend:

Please RSVP with Angie Leisman at Crisis Connection Inc. 482-1555 by Nov. 8th or RSVP by fax at 482-1571